

North Carolina is the birthplace of American forestry. It is only fitting that the N.C. Forest Service is one of the leading forestry agencies in the United States. For more than 100 years, N.C. Forest Service employees have worked for the State of North Carolina to protect and improve our state's most valuable natural resources.

Join Our Workforce

The N.C. Forest Service isn't just protecting forests. We're protecting futures.

By working hand in hand with the citizens of North Carolina, we're ensuring our forests stay healthy and productive. Our workforce makes that happen.

When you work for North Carolina, you can count on:

- The ability to impact positive change for the citizens of North Carolina.
- Benefit options that will enhance your quality of life, health, wellness and future.
- A culture that values creativity, diversity, innovation and teamwork.

Learn more about state employee benefits.

<https://oshr.nc.gov/state-employee-resources/benefits>

Why consider public service?

A career in public service allows you many opportunities to have a direct impact on the people in your community.

We use a merit-based recruitment and selection plan to fill positions with qualified individuals.

Benefits of working for our team include:

- Generous leave policies
- Flexible work schedules
- A sound retirement system, one of the best in the country

Every career with the N.C. Forest Service provides meaningful, fulfilling public service.

Learn how you can start making a difference in a career with the N.C. Forest Service.

www.ncforestsERVICE.gov

The N.C. Forest Service is a division of the N.C. Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services. Steve Troxler, Commissioner.